FEELING AT MANILA. SPAIN'S AGREEMENT TO CEDE

PHILIPPINES ANTICIPATED. AGUINALDO WILL BE CONCILIATORY.

Position is Daily Recoming More Untenable - Native Newspapers. However, Still Inflammatory.

MANILA. December 2.-Owing to the fact that the result of the Paris conferences has long been anticipated here, the agreement of Spain to cede the Philippine Islands to the United States created no excitement. The Americans made no demonstration, commercial circles were relieved, and the Spaniards were indifferent. Some of the American volunteers were disgusted at the prospect of being detained here, now that the fighting is finished.

Aguinaldo is certain to assume a conciliatory attitude, because his position is daily becoming more untenable. His rivals are becoming uncontrollable, especially since funds have run short, and the outlying provinces have become affected. Although never much more than a figurehead, Aguinaldo has been consistently temperate, and the authorities have no reason to fear that he will depart from this policy.

NATIVE PAPERS INTEMPERATE. Nevertheless, the native newspapers on tinue to publish inflammatory articles. The Republica Filipina to-day publishes an article, headed "The Moment Has Arrived," in which it says:

"When the conference terminated its labors Filipinos had airendy conquered all of the Island of Luzon, and the adjacent islands, except the town of Iliolo, and Cebu, Leyte, and Samar. Therefore, Spain has ceded authority which she did not possess. The Filipinos will never consent to the ignominy of being treated as chattels. They will shed their blood in torrents again before bowing before foreign dominion, however light. America eign dominion, however light. America brought the great chief Aguinaldo from Hongkong, and recognized our nationality by allowing our flag to be raised at Cor-regidor Island and to sail the bay in full ight of all the foreign fleets. None dared openly acknowledge our independence, a great wrong is committed. Had Spain asked for $10,000,000, the natives would gladly have paid that amount to retain their rights, ruthlessly torn from them."

FRIENDSHIP FOR AMERICANS. In conclusion, the article affirms the riendship of the Filipinos for Americans, nsists that the insurgents will never fire the first shot, and adds that the harmony existing will only be broken by "priests" or traitors, inducing the Americans to attack us."

THE WAR INQUIRY.

A Witness Found Who Says Everything Was All Right.

WASHINGTON, December 2.-The War Investigating Commission resumed its sittings in this city to-day. Colonel Charles Bird, who had charge of the transportation division of the quartermaster-general's department during the war, testified in regard to the purchase of mules and chartering of transports and to contracts with railroads for carry ing troops. He denied that exorbitant prices had been paid. The congestion at Tampa, he said, was due to the fact that more supplies were sent to that point than could be handled. When they learn ed of the congestion, an order was issued for the marking of the cars, and a quartermaster's agent was sent with each

Colonel Bird said that the transports occupied between Tampa and Santiago had been fitted up only to carry the men and supplies to Habana, and this was the reason they proved inadequate for a trip of much longer duration.

General Dodge questioned the witness about the deficiency in the matter of lighters, bringing out the fact that he dree had suggested to General Miles the use and and suggested to General Miles the un of pontoon trains. When General Shafter sailed he was supplied with six lighters, but he had failed to take more than Colonel Miller, also of the quartermaster-general's office, having charge of all the army transportation, except that by water and rail, testified that over 4,000 wagons had been purchased for the use of the army. At the beginning of the out delay. As a matter of fact, all the orders had not been filled yet. EVERYTHING ORDERLY AT TAMPA.

Captain James McKay, a civilian, and an old sea captain in Florida and Cuban waters, who, under General Humphreys, had charge of the details of the transpor-tation of the troops to Santiago, provean important witness. He said that com plete rations had been put on each ship and that the vessels had not been over loaded. This was contrary to previous testimony, as was also a later statement that the vessel which each command was to occupy had been designated be-fore embarking. He emphasized this fact, saying the designation had been made by General Shafter and the cotonel of each of the regiments was evidently informed in each case, He said there was no confusion when the troops went aboard. say emphatically there was no disorder and to confusion," he said, "and that in all cases the regiments found their quarters without trouble or delay."

"How about the Rough Riders, the Roosevelt Regiment?" asked General Washington.

They were assigned to the Yucatan, and there was difficulty in their embarkation.

Captain McKay also said that there had been no confusion in unloading the stores. He testifled that they had been loaded in an orderly manner. There was a list showing what articles were in each vessel, and there had been no mixing of the various kinds of stores. It was true, as had been charged, that some of the tores had never been unloaded, but this was due in the main to the fact that the stores were not needed. The tents were not unloaded for lack of storage room on shore, and because they could not be gotten to the front.

AMPLE FACILITIES FOR LANDING. Captain McKay said there had been no disposition on the part of the masters of the transports to disobey orders or to keep their vessels unnecessarily far out at sea, as had been charged. There were a great many men giving orders who had no authority to do so, and who knew nothing of the sea or the local conditions. It was not safe to hold the ships very close in. He also denied that there had been any refusal to land medical stores. It had been impossible to secure labor assistance in Cuba, the natives refusing even to assist in landing food for them-selves. He was satisfied that ample facilities had been provided for landing the troops and supplies, and that there would have been no difficulty if all the lighters had been available. As it was, four lighters had reached Balquiri, and not one only, as had been reported. Captain McKay took exception to a reference in Admiral Sampson's report to what he called "the wandering proclivities of the transports." "As a mat-ter of fact," he said, "if the transports developed any wandering proclivities, this fact was due to the navy." He then re-lated that a naval vessel had made ar-rangements to allow the officer in com-mand to notify the transports that changes had been made in the arrange-ments for landing. He thought Captain Hankins had received this information, and he understood that they would pur-Hankins had received this information, and he understood that they would pursue a southerly course. This course pursued indefinitely would carry them 6 points off the coast. This order led the transport officers generally to conclude that they were to sail for Porto Rico, and, as a matter of fact, the Knickerbocker did sail thirty-five miles and get lost for twelve hours, on account of the lost for twelve hours, on account of the order, only coming back when she found that none of the rest of the fleet was

TO TEST CUBAN VALOR.

Young Officers Ordered to Challenge Any One Insulting Them.

HABANA, December 2.-The Executive Committee of the Cuban Assembly agreed at its last session to make it compulsory upon the part of any Cuban officer insult ed by Spanish, American, or other officers, to challenge the person so insulting to fight a duel. The measure has two aims, according to the Cubans-first, "to maintain the dignity of the Cuban army." and, secondly, "to check the impudence and insolence of many so-called Cuban officers, who, without having ever put their courage to a test, having enlisted after the armistice, are swaggering about with Cuban uniforms, endeavoring to offend Spanish officers."

WHEREFORE THESE ARMS? It is learned on good authority that the Cubans have recently secretly acquired quite a formidable armament, the ulterior object of which is not known. It is added that they have purchased over 8.000 rifles within the last ten days. The fact is causing considerable speculation
